Our LL.M. in International and European Law, taught entirely in English, builds on the very successful LL.M. Programme we have created in the Athens Law School in the past ten years. It is an intensive Master's Programme, which provides students with an in-depth understanding of International and European Union Law in both their theoretical and practical aspects.

The Programme covers a single academic year, in the course of which students must successfully complete two semesters of core, mandatory taught modules while conducting research, under the supervision of our Faculty, leading to an original item of written work in the form of a dissertation.

The LL.M. course starts on 1st October and lasts until the mid-June. The written or oral examinations take place in February and June, upon completion of each semester. Students may re-sit a failed examination in September following the end of the academic year. The Master thesis shall be submitted by 30 September of the year during which the spring semester takes place.

Welcome meeting – Class of 2022-2023

A warm welcome to the LLM in International & European Law class of 2022-2023. 40 people from 10 different nationalities, coming together at Athens Law School in pursuit of knowledge and excellence, looking forward to an enjoyable and productive academic year!

– Forum

Forum on Safety of Navigation ELIAMEP & The Embassy of Japan in Greece (23.3.2023)

Professor Maria Gavouneli, Law School, participated as keynote speaker to the Forum on Safety of Navigation from the Eastern Mediterranean Sea to the Indo-Pacific, jointly organised by the Hellenic Foundation for European and Foreign Policy – ELIAMEP and the Embassy of Japan in Greece, which took place on 23 March 2023 at the Theocharakis Foundation. The Athens Public International Law Center – Athens PIL and the LLM in International & European Law of the Law School were knowledge partners to the event. This is the first such cooperation with Japan in what may well develop into a closer academic relationship.

– International Workshop

Protection of the Environment in Armed Conflicts (4.5.2023)

The Toxic Crimes Project (Faculty of Law, University of Helsinki), the Athens Public International Law Center (Athens PIL) Law School, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens and the Finnish Institute at Athens (FIA) organized an international workshop to discuss the legal, historical and practical aspects of environmental protection during armed conflicts from ancient to contemporary contexts. The keynote speaker will be Ambassador Marja Lehto (former UN International Law Commission Special Rapporteur, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Finland).

– Law Clinic

Trade Law Clinic (7 & 15.6.2023)

Trade Law Clinic project offers our students a unique opportunity delve into international trade and investment law by preparing legal reports (informative, advisory or ad hoc) on specified subjects of interest to participating project partners, which include governmental and non-governmental organizations and civil society institutions. The goal is for students to put international economic law theory into practice, so that the research generated takes into due account the actual needs and concerns of business and society stakeholders. In Trade Law Clinic 2023 presented their research conclusions and received comments by experts of the Economic and Social Council of Greece (OKE). This year's research focused on the very important topic of trade relations between the European Union and Africa law.

– International Moot Court Competitions

The Athens Law School and the Department of International Law participate each year in a series of national and international student Moot Court or Arbitration competitions, in the fields of Public International Law, Human Rights, Humanitarian Law, European Law, International Criminal Law, Roman Law, Space Law, Air Law, Commercial Law, Commercial Arbitration, International Commercial Arbitration and United Nations simulations, in which it has obtained a significant number of awards.

A Moot Court is a simulation of trial or arbitration, in which students compete in English, on a case involving complex legal issues, acting as lawyers representing the plaintiff, the defendant or the parties of an arbitration. They answer questions asked by the judges and challenge the arguments of their opponents. Some competitions also require the contestants to submit written memoranda or legal sources relevant to their argumentation. Law Professors and eminent legal practitioners are sitting as "Judges" in the competition. Competitors are graded on the basis of specific criteria and the best teams and speakers are awarded team and individual awards, as well as best written memoranda awards.

Prospective students who will be admitted to the LL.M. Programme in International and European Law might have the opportunity to experience a moot court competition. Therefore, they will be presented with the opportunity to cultivate their legal skills in a competitive and multicultural environment. This rare experience would see them becoming more competent within the global community of lawyers, familiarise themselves with the latest legal developments and also broadening their horizons by strengthening the cooperation between nations.

The outstanding achievements and distinctions received by our students in several international competitions rank the Athens Law School - regarding the total number of awards over the last years - among the best in the world. Some of our prizes include:

- 1st place in the European Human Rights Moot Court Competition 2015
- 1st place in the Foreign Direct Investment International Arbitration Moot 2015
- 3rd place in the European Law Moot Court (ELMC) 2016
- 1st place in the Leiden Sarin International Air Law Moot Court Competition 2018

- 2nd place in the NILOS Moot Court Competition 2019
- 2nd place in the Manfred Lachs Space Law Moot Court Competition (European Rounds) 2021-2022
- 1st place in the NILOS Moot Court Competition on the Law of the Sea 2021-2022
- 2nd place in the John H. Jackson Moot Court Competition on World Trade Organisation Law (European Rounds) 2021-2022
- 1st place in the All-European International Humanitarian and Refugee Law Moot Court Competition 2022-2023

The Athens Law School team won the 1st place at All-European International Humanitarian and Refugee Law Moot Court Competition 2022-2023

Our team participated for the first time ever in this year’s All-European International Humanitarian and Refugee Law Moot Court Competition and, following a tight and exciting final round against the Sofia University “St. Kliment Ohridski”, was unanimously ranked first!

The NKUA team was composed of Despoina Papadela (undergraduate student), Polyxeni Dimopoulou and Spyridon Leonis (postgraduate students at the LLM in International and European Law) under the guidance of Dr. Stavros Evdokimos Pantazopoulos.

Polyxeni was also granted the award of the Best Oralist of the Final Round. The team members demonstrated their exceptional legal, role-playing, and public speaking skills throughout the various stages of this demanding Competition which they well-deservedly won.

The All-European International Humanitarian and Refugee Law Moot Court Competition is based on a Case Study which is carefully prepared by the organisers (University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Law) in cooperation with the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and addresses the most topical questions relating to international humanitarian and refugee law, drawing on current situations. It is designed to encourage students to study and understand the fundamental concepts of international humanitarian and refugee law by addressing concrete legal problems and practice their legal argumentation in front of experienced judges and panel members.

The 7th edition of the prestigious All-European International Humanitarian and Refugee Law Moot Court Competition took place at the outstanding premises of the University of Ljubljana from the 15th to the 18th of November 2022. It was organized by the Faculty of Law, University of Ljubljana (Professor Vasilka Sancin) and supported by the ICRC, the UNHCR, and the Slovenian Red Cross. The hospitality and the excellent organization of the Competition ensure the NKUA's return next year. The NKUA team is grateful to Professor Vasilka Sancin and Dr. Maruša Veber for putting together such a fascinating Competition.

The NKUA team would further like to acknowledge and warmly thank the ICRC Athens Delegation for its constant care and tireless efforts. Without its indispensable support, it would be impossible for our team to participate in the Competition.

Our deep appreciation goes to the academic staff of the Department of International Studies, Law School, NKUA that encouraged our team's participation in the first place, and to the administrative staff of the Law School, NKUA that helped us immensely throughout our preparation.

The Athens Law School team won the 2nd place at the ELSA Helga Pedersen Moot Court Competition 2022-2023

Following upon the distinguished tradition of the Athens Law School, we are happy and proud to announce that Maria Emmanouil and Eirini-Theoni Bougonikolou, our team of undergraduate students, advanced to the Grand Final of the ELSA Helga Pedersen Moot Court Competition 2022-2023 and ranked 2nd out of 58 teams from law schools from all Member States of the Council of Europe. Maria Emmanouil also won the Best Orator award for the semi-final rounds of the competition.

The team was coached by Myrto Stavridi, Athens lawyer and former winner of the competition, with the assistance of Fay Mantzouni, undergraduate student and former participant of the competition, under the academic supervision of Professor Maria Gavouneli.

The competition was held at the facilities and with the cooperation of the Council of Europe and the European Court of Human Rights from 22 until 26 May 2023.

The Athens Law School team won the 3rd place at the European Law Moot Court Competition 2022-2023

The team of students of the Athens Law School achieved a very important distinction in the Grand Final of the European Law Moot Court Competition 2022-2023, held in Luxembourg on April 20-21, 2023 before the Plenary of the Court of Justice of the European Union, taking third place in the world, while student Adamantia Pavlopoulou, who competed as Attorney General, took second place in the world.

The team of the Athens Law School consisted of undergraduate students Ariadni Kanatsa, Maria Kollia, Adamantia Pavlopoulou and Maria Fournogeraki, while the students Rania Sainidou and Myrto Katsouli also participated in the writing of the written memoranda.

The preparation was undertaken by the students Penelope Manteli, Vassilis Christodoulou, Theodora Sfakianaki and Ioanna Pasia, who were members of the team that participated in the competition the previous year.

The contribution of the postdoctoral researcher, Mr. I. Kourtis, was also important. The team was prepared under the academic supervision of Asst. Professor Rebecca – Emmanuela Papadopoulou, as well as Assoc. Professor Mr. Emm. Perakis, and with the contribution of Ms. Asst. Professor M. Kouskouna.
